Dominion Energy South Carolina, Inc.
Late Filed Hearing Exhibit No. 1

At the hearing in the above-referenced docket, the Public Service Commission of South Carolina (the “Commission”) requested that Dominion Energy South Carolina, Inc. (“DESC”) provide a late-filed exhibit clarifying whether data from both commercial and industrial (“C&I”) customers and residential customers were included in the “average NEM customer” illustrations on Figure 1 on page 6 of the Direct Testimony of DESC witness Mark C. Furtick (“Furtick Direct Testimony”) or whether only data from residential customers was used. The Commission also requested that DESC identify whether the specific customer data used in Figure 2 on page 8 of the Furtick Direct Testimony was for a residential customer or a C&I customer.

In satisfaction of the Commission’s request, DESC hereby informs the Commission that the “average NEM customer” illustrations on Figure 1 on page 6 of the Furtick Direct Testimony are based on data from both C&I and residential customers. However, DESC estimates that at least 99% of the customer accounts used were residential accounts.

DESC further informs the Commission that the specific customer that was used for the illustration in Figure 2 on page 8 of the Furtick Direct Testimony was a residential customer.
